

JOIN OUR NETWORK OF LEADERS

Individual Membership

Join thousands of executives and managers working to improve their organizations and strengthen their careers by becoming an AME member.

Membership includes the following benefits:

- Access to a trusted network of peers and to leading-edge industry knowledge
- Discounted member prices for AME's International Lean Conference as well as its regional conferences, seminars and workshops
- A subscription to the award-winning Target magazine published six times a year
- Access to member-only resources on our websites ame.org and target.ame.org
- The ability to dialogue and share resources with other AME Members through our new social networking site AMEConnect (connect.ame.org)

Individual Membership Costs Include:

- National - $150 (includes members residing in the U.S., Canada, U.K. and Australia)
- International - $190 (members residing outside the U.S., Canada, U.K. and Australia)
- Student - $25 (students residing in the U.S., Canada, U.K. and Australia)

Additional information on Individual Memberships can be found on ame.org under "Membership."

Joint Membership

AME offers a Joint Membership program to give members increased benefits at discounted prices.

AME has established partnerships with:

- The Society of Manufacturing Engineers (SME)
- The Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals (CSCMP)
- The Association for Operational Management (APICS) (student membership only)

To participate in the Joint Membership program you must be a fully paid AME member. Additional information on Joint Membership savings and benefits can be found on ame.org under "Membership."

Corporate Membership

The AME Corporate Membership Program is a powerful and efficient way to support the need for continuous staff development and productivity improvement. Corporate Membership costs vary depending on organization size. Additional information on Corporate Membership savings and benefits can be found on ame.org under "Membership."